

Absentee Voters National Ulster County Bank May Now Register For Next Election Changes Title

Companion Measure to Law Permitting Absentee Voting, Now in Effect—Voters Must Not Consider Their Affairs Lightly—Days Fixed for Hearing Applications by Registration Board.

Voters in the city of Kingston who on account of their duties, business or occupation have in the past been obliged to lose their votes owing to their inability to register, will undoubtedly find considerable satisfaction in the recent amendment to the Election Law permitting central registration. By Chapter 815 of the Laws of 1928, a new section has been added known as section 153A. This section provides that in any case where the voter who resides in an election district in which registration is required to be personal, will be unavoidably absent from the county of his residence during all the days and hours fixed for the registration of voters because his duties, business or occupation require him to be elsewhere in the United States, the voter may apply in person at the office of the board of elections for registration by the central registration board between the period beginning on July 1 and ending on September 20 next preceding each general election.

The new law is somewhat of a companion measure to the statute permitting absentee voting, which was primarily adopted for aiding commercial travelers, actors, federal employees, students and such others who are actually and necessarily obliged to be absent during the period of election. The new enactment relative to central registration would appear to be similar in its purpose.

Scrutinize Applications Carefully.

Every person applying for central registration must make an affidavit of the facts upon which he claims to be entitled to the vote. The board of elections, owing to the experience which the board of elections have had in the past with voters who are applying for absentee voters' ballots, expects that the law should apply to every individual case. The board has decided to carefully scrutinize all applications. The board is also considering the best method of dealing with those who are applying for absentee voters' ballots, by their affidavits appear to take the matter so lightly as to virtually disregard their oaths.

Special provision is also made for the year 1928 for members of the American Legion or the American Legion Auxiliary or the United Spanish War Veterans or the Ladies' Auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans, or the husband, wife or child of such member who desire and intend to attend the conventions of the above organizations.

Days for Making Application.

The law fixes certain days during the aforesaid period, viz: Monday or Friday or on Saturday before noon in which voters may apply for central registration, but the board of elections have adopted the following schedule when the board will be in session: On any Monday or Friday during the months of July and August from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and on any Saturday morning during said months from 11 to 12 m. On and after September 1, and ending September 20, on any Monday or Friday (between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.) or on any Saturday before noon. Also on such other additional days and hours within said period exclusive of Sundays as the board may be convened.

WOULD JAIL GUNMEN FOR FAILURE TO PAY INCOME TAX

Chicago, July 3 (AP).—Sending gunmen to prison under the income tax law is the new proposal under the serious consideration of Chicago federal authorities.

Racketeers who employ terrorist methods to entrench themselves in their enterprises are liable to prison sentences for failure to account to the government for their incomes, explained A. P. Madden, chief of the special intelligence unit of the internal revenue division.

The government theory, as he outlined it, is that certain racketeers have paid graft and that certain officials have received it without mentioning it on their income tax returns.

The federal inquiry is understood to have extended to the income returns of Al Capone, his brother Ralph, Jack Cusick (whom the police know as an aide of Capone) and Joe Salis, at present a fugitive following conviction for carrying concealed weapons.

"We shall be able to obtain prison sentences, I predict for several persons who hitherto have appeared immune," Madden predicts.

Madden said the government investigation had gone back five years in some instances in quest of evildoers.

Well Known Financial Institution Becomes "National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company of Kingston"—Has Changed Its Title Several Times in Nearly 100 Years—Rapid Growth Indicated.

At a meeting of the shareholders of The National Ulster County Bank of Kingston, held on June 12, at which there was voting 1,737 shares out of 2,000, it was voted to change the title of the bank from The National Ulster County Bank of Kingston to that of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company of Kingston.

During the nearly 100 years of existence of this bank there have been several changes in its title.

From 1831 to 1861 its title was "The President, Directors and Company of the Ulster County Bank".

From 1861 to 1865 its title was "Ulster County Bank". During these years it was a bank organized under the laws of the state of New York.

From 1865 to 1928 its title was "The National Ulster County Bank of Kingston" and now it will be the "National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company of Kingston".

Its original capital was $100,000, consisting of 2,000 shares of the par value of $50 each, but near the time when the bank entered the National Bank System its capital was increased to $150,000 by a stock dividend of 50 per cent to shareholders, evidenced by 2,000 shares at $75 par each, thereby increasing the par value of the stock from $50 to $75 a share.

During all this period the bank grew with the increase of wealth in the community as is indicated by its deposits as shown below:

|-----------|--------------|
| 1840..... | $22,270.17 |
| 1850..... | 30,139.45 |
| 1860..... | 64,951.00 |
| 1870..... | 112,917.21 |
| 1880..... | 159,345.53 |
| 1890..... | 255,285.71 |
| 1900..... | 271,958.89 |
| 1910..... | 558,575.61 |
| 1920..... | 1,482,656.77 |
| 1928..... | 3,819,675.90 |

This change of title does not affect the accounts of the bank in any manner whatsoever. All stationery, checks, pass books issued under the old name will still be valid and good under the new, and requires no action on the part of any depositor or borrower.

Its present officers are: F. J. R. Clarke, president; Charles Snyder, cashier; Leroy F. Port, assistant cashier.

Directors are: F. J. R. Clarke, John D. Schoonmaker, Rodney B. Osterhout, Ira B. Oliver, Martin Cantine, William H. Grogan, Albert E. Rose, Benjamin J. Winne.

Texans Refuse To Support Smith

Dallas, Texas, July 3 (AP).—Texas Democracy today faced new threats of a split following announcements by two candidates for high state offices that they would not support Governor Alfred E. Smith for president.

State Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, former Democratic national committeeman, and a candidate for lieutenant governor, in announcing he would not support Smith, said:

"My conscience would not let me vote to put a schemer of Tammany Hall in the White House even if there was no liquor question involved in Smith's candidacy. Whom I shall cast my vote for I have not decided as I expect some developments before the time I must make up my mind."

Mrs. Edith Williams, candidate for governor, declared the national Democratic convention had given the Democrats of Texas "a rotten deal," and that she would not support Governor Smith.

"I feel that it would be better for the Democratic party to fail," she said, "than to succeed in forcing upon the good citizens of the United States a man who by his acts as governor of New York has nullified the prohibition amendment in the state of New York."

On the heels of these statements came an announcement from Governor Dan Moody that he would not attend a meeting of Southern Democrats at Asheville, N. C., next week. The call for this meeting was issued at the national party convention in Houston last week, with the announced purpose of organizing southern Democrats against a wet candidate.

FAMOUS SCIENTIST ILL OF STOMACH TROUBLE

Chicago, July 3 (AP).—Prof. Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, whose accomplishments in the measurement of light speed have given him an international reputation, has been seriously ill for a fortnight, it was learned today.

Prof. Michelson, who is 75 years old, collapsed while playing chess. At a hospital he was found to be suffering with anemia and stomach trouble. Physicians last night said his condition was much improved and that if he continued to gain strength he would soon be able to leave the hospital.

Coolidge to Take Part in Campaign

Tells National Chairman Work He Can Be Relied Upon to Participate to Some Extent—Chairman Work Discusses Smith's Statement on Dry Laws.

Superior, Wis., July 3 (AP).—President Coolidge has definitely assured Chairman Work of the national Republican committee that he may be relied upon to participate to some extent in the forthcoming political campaign.

After a four-hour visit to the summer White House, during which Dr. Work handed Mr. Coolidge his resignation as secretary of the interior, the Republican chairman announced that the chief executive's assurance, although definite, did not indicate how or when he would lend his aid to the Republican party. On his part, Dr. Work added, he had not suggested plans to Mr. Coolidge, being perfectly satisfied that the latter "would do everything he could."

Dr. Work arrived in Superior yesterday. He was driven immediately to Cedar Island Lodge, whence he returned in the afternoon to catch the train back to Washington. On his return from the executive residence Dr. Work said that Mr. Coolidge had not accepted his resignation as yet, presumably waiting until he had decided upon his successor.

Hoover Campaign to Be Quiet

Dr. Work, who will now devote his entire time to managing Secretary Hoover's campaign, said that this would be a "quiet, dignified, instructive and educational campaign in which the Republicans would not descend to personalities." The keynote of their activities will be the "perpetuation of prosperity, efficiency and good government."

Chairman Work said the Republican nominee would not undertake any countrywide speaking tour, but that he would deliver some radio addresses. "I don't think Hoover will make much of a campaign," he said.

"Why should he? He is known to every voter and will be better known every day. No man ever was nominated for the Presidency who had a greater background, more varied experience and wider contacts. His picture was hung in every home during the war."

Says Smith Repudiated Platform

Discussing the results of the Democratic national convention, Chairman Work said he thought Governor Smith had opened his campaign by repudiating one of the fundamental points in his party's platform, the prohibition plank in the Houston declaration of principles had been drawn up, he said, for the specific purpose of preventing any change in the existing prohibition statutes. Governor Smith by pledging himself to work for their revision in his reply to Senator Robinson's telegram of congratulations for his nomination, had contradicted this plank. "After theoretically drawn up for the candidate to run on it."

Big Race Meet To Be Held in City in August

August 14 to 17 Are Dates Fixed For Horse Racing and Automobile Races at Kingston Driving Park—Plans Made Monday Evening.

Three days of fast horse racing and one of automobile racing will be held at the Kingston Driving Park on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 14 to 17. Those were the dates fixed on at a meeting of the general committee in charge of the meet at a meeting held Monday evening at the drug store of Maben & Walker on Broadway. Only licensed A. A. A. drivers will be allowed to compete in the auto races.

It was also decided to hold the horse racing on the first three days and the auto races on the closing day of the meet.

Plans for staging one of the largest automobile shows ever held here are also under way and the show will be held in connection with the races. It is expected that every auto dealer in the city will arrange for space to exhibit the latest models in cars.

A committee on track and grounds was appointed consisting of J. David Schenck, Dr. Morton Low and David Ebel. The committee on racing is composed of Harry Walker, Dr. E. W. Maben, A. H. Gilder, Elmer Elmer and Elmer Elmer. The chairman of the finance committee is E. Frank Flanagan, who will select the members of his committee.

At the meeting Monday evening a communication was read from Captain Fox of the New York State Troopers, stating that a picked group of Troopers would attend each day of the meet and stage an exhibition of fancy and trick riding. The general committee is also planning for other feature attractions.

TEACH MEXICAN CHILDREN TO LOVE UNITED STATES

Mexico City, July 3 (AP).—Under Secretary of Education Moises Saenz has appointed a committee of educators and newspapermen to direct a movement in the public schools to teach Mexican children to love the United States. The movement is considered the best means to promote lasting understanding and friendship between the two countries on a solid foundation, since children are unprejudiced.

El Universal said today that the movement grew out of the suggestion of an unnamed American educator who started a drive in the United States and had American children send presents to Mexican children. Each present was accompanied by a letter from the American donor to the Mexican recipient.

Found Competition Too Keen

The Broadway Theatre was built largely with local capital by the Kingston Theatre Corporation, of which Harry Lazarus of this city was and is the president, and it opened the Broadway Theatre on June 9 of last year. Since that time the operators of both theatres have given the public high class entertainment and pictures, but the competition has been so keen that both companies were compelled to admit that to continue such operations was economically unsound. In fact, it was quite clearly demonstrated to both of them, that unless overhead expenses and the cost of entertainment could be materially reduced, great financial loss would ensue to the owners of both theatres.

Each of the theatres has a seating capacity of between seventeen and eighteen hundred people, and from the attendance at both theatres it was evident that the seating capacity for the present time, at least, was too large for the city of Kingston.

These are the facts that brought about the merger, and in addition to that, the theatres being restricted to a six day performance are not able to compete with theatres in other cities, which are able to exhibit seven days in the week, which Mr. Reade has always contended is an economic necessity to proper entertainment in any city, as well as being a social necessity under present day conditions.

New Company Operates Under Leases

The ownership of neither the Broadway Theatre or Reade's Theatre is to pass to the Operating Company, but the Operating Company has taken over both properties under long term leases, and will operate them under a unified control and management. Whichever theatre can be operated to the best advantage to the owners of the respective companies, and so as to give the public the best possible entertainment, is the thing which will eventually be worked out by the Operating Company.

Reade's to Close Temporarily

If both theatres can be operated during part of the year so as to bring a proper return, and so as to provide adequate and suitable entertainment, both of them will be operated. At the present time, however, it is deemed inadvisable to continue the operation of both theatres and for the time being Reade's Kingston Theatre will be closed, and the Broadway Theatre, which has a Vitaphone installation, will remain open. It will be the object of the Operating Company to give to the citizens of Kingston an opportunity to see high class pictures, and from time to time, as conditions warrant it, vanderbilt and legitimate productions.

Merger Takes Effect Next Monday

The merger will take effect on Monday, July 9, 1928, and from that date on until further notice, the productions will be produced in the Broadway Theatre. It is understood from the Operating Company that Mr. Lazarus will have the supervision and management of the theatres and will be assisted probably by the present management of Reade's Kingston Theatre, Mr. Texter.

Merger Absolutely Essential

The representatives of the companies owning both of the theatres impressed upon the representative who interviewed them that this merger and unification of interest was absolutely essential, not only to the people who had money invested in the projects, but in order to insure suitable and proper entertainment for the patrons.

Success of Health Conference

Largest and Best Conference Ever Held, Says Dr. E. H. Longbrake, City Health Officer—Many Important Subjects Discussed.

Dr. E. H. Longbrake, health officer of this city, who represented this community at the twenty-first annual conference of Health Officers and Public Health Nurses held at Saratoga Springs on June 26, 27 and 28, reports that it was the largest and best conference ever held, a total of nearly 1,200 delegates being registered.

The conference was opened by Dr. Matthias Nichol, Jr., state commissioner of health. He called attention to the large number of needless deaths of mothers during childbirth and pointed out ways by which these fatalities may be reduced. Dr. Harry B. Trick, president of the State Medical Society, spoke on the necessity of cooperation between practicing physicians and health officials. Dr. Thomas Ordway, dean of the Albany Medical College, gave suggestions as to how the dearth of physicians in rural districts might be overcome. Dr. Edward S. McSweeney, medical director of the New York Telephone Company, emphasized the need for methods by which cases of tuberculosis could be discovered earlier in the course of the disease, thus giving patients a greater chance for recovery.

Dr. Edward Francis, surgeon in the Federal Public Health Service, gave an interesting paper in tularemia, a comparatively little known disease of rabbits to which humans are susceptible, usually with serious and often fatal results.

Dr. Charles Armstrong, surgeon, United States Public Health Service, outlined the best methods for the control of smallpox through vaccination.

Smallpox and Rabies.

Eighty-six per cent of the 3,600 cases of smallpox occurring in upstate New York in the past 10 years were never vaccinated, while 67 per cent occurred in communities where vaccination is not compulsory for school attendance, according to Dr. H. S. Sentner of the State Department of Health. This speaker also discussed the increasing prevalence of rabies in the state. He attributed failure to check the disease to public indifference, to the requirement that attempts to capture must precede killing of dogs and to allowing dogs to run at large.

Miss Ruth Taylor who is Deputy Welfare Commissioner of Westchester county, gave an interesting talk on methods of coordinating the efforts of private and public health agencies. The progress which is being made in the elimination of diphtheria by the use of toxin-antitoxin was shown by Dr. E. E. Roberts of the State Department of Health.

Deaths from measles are usually due to improper care or neglect rather than the disease itself. The greatest fatality is among children under three and children of this age should be protected against exposure when possible, according to Dr. Godfrey, director of the Division of Communicable Disease.

Milk Conditions Arouse Discussions.

Since health officers are responsible for the enforcement of the new sanitary code regulations relating to the production and sale of milk, effective July 1, much interest was shown in several papers relating to methods of enforcement, pasteurization and dairy inspection. Scoring of cities according to the amount and kind of health activities discussed by Dr. Huntington Williams of the State Department of Health aroused considerable discussion.

Dr. Haven Emerson, professor of Public Health Administration at Columbia College, said the time had come for the homes to take the responsibility for the shoulders of the health officials for the adoption of known measures for the prevention of diseases, to call on their family doctor for advice as to such measures and to expect to pay for such services.

Dr. Walter J. Craig, state orthopedic surgeon, told what the state is doing in the care of physically handicapped children and how many of them are being restored by this means to lives of usefulness.

Tuberculin Tests for Herds.

E. T. Faulder, veterinary surgeon of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets, spoke on the tuberculin test and the accredited herd plan. Since 1918, over one-third of a million cattle which have reacted to the tuberculin test have been destroyed, reducing the amount of new infections from twenty-eight to twelve per cent. A total of over 2,000,000 cattle have been tested on 175,000 farms in sixty-two counties. Fifty-one of these have organized to eradicate tuberculosis in herds.

The public health nurses held two separate sessions. On Tuesday special group conferences discussed their problems; Wednesday a home visit of a nurse to supervise infant health was successfully dramatized. School nursing was discussed by Miss Jessie Frisch, health education director at the State Normal School at New Paltz.

At one of the meetings the health officers went on record as favoring a special license plate for doctors' motor cars. The prize, diphtheria posters were shown and a final judging given. The first prize winner, Ruth Partridge of Buffalo, was awarded a year's scholarship on Fine Arts at Syracuse University.

Water Power Wasted

The Alto Parana river, which divides Paraguay from Argentina and Brazil, and its many tributaries, could make Paraguay an important industrial center. The power of these waters is practically unknown, but is estimated as having, in some places, a fall of 200 feet, and a force of 100,000 horse power. The Igazu falls are regarded as even more powerful than Niagara.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN HONEY GRADES.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 3.—An effort to change the present grades under which extracted honey is sold is being made by a group of western honey buyers, according to a statement by Professor Phillips of the apiculture department at the state college of agriculture at Cornell University.

Professor Phillips points out that if the present limits are altered along the lines suggested, the majority of honey produced in New York state will be disqualified from the better grades. Under the present system, most New York honey is sold as "white," but under the new system, a great deal of this honey would come under a new "light golden" grade which it is proposed to establish.

The buyers who wish to change the limits claim that this would bring the grading system more in accordance with trade usage. Numbers of New York beekeepers have written letters requesting that the present grades be retained until such time as they are shown to be unfit for trade usage.

The Eyes of Youth

The old historian, Plutarch, when asked what boys should learn, said: "That which they will use when men." The trouble is that men do not use enough what they learned and what they thought and what they hoped as boys. The idealism of youth too quickly fades. Most men are too practical.—Exchange.

The Horse's Measure

Horses have been measured by "hands" from very ancient times. The measurement is from the top of the shoulder to the ground. A "hand" is four inches.

Agents Raid N. Y. Brewery

(New York, July 3 (AP).—A brewery which prohibited enforcement authorities declared had secret doors for the spiriting out of "real beer," was in the possession of the government today.

Seizure of the plant of the Kips Brewing and Malt Company at 7th street and First avenue, followed closely the raiding last Thursday of twenty of the city's most prominent night clubs.

Prohibition Director Maurice Campbell said the machinery in the brewery alone was valued at $160,000 and that in addition 10,000 gallons of high-powered beer was confiscated. The agents also seized a truck load of alleged five per cent beer as it was being driven from the brewery, and arrested the driver.

Campbell described the secret doors of the brewery as most ingenious. He said the steel doors were faced with brick to represent a continuation of the brick walls and that the deception was further carried out by a removable section of imitation steam and water pipes insulated with asbestos. The doors connected with the garage.

The brewery is capitalized at $300,000. No action has as yet been taken against any of its officers.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY
 James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

COULD DEMISEY COME BACK?

Perhaps you wonder whether or not Demisey could come back as a boxer and get into the shape he was in when he won the heavyweight title. In my opinion, although I looked him over but the one time, he could do so if he had sufficient inducement from a financial standpoint or with the thought of the prestige of being champion again.

It was the years of idleness and worry that rendered him unfit to meet Tunney. With no worries and three months' hard training he could be fit physically. Whether or not he would have the same degree of fighting instinct I am unable to even guess.

However any and all training that a body receives is never completely lost, and a football player, boxer, or other athlete can usually get into perfect condition in a month to six weeks if they have taken ordinary care of themselves. One unused athlete, one who has always been negligent of his body may never get into first class condition, or if he does, it takes from six months to a year.

A number of years ago it was my privilege to examine the famous Bobby Walthour, then world's champion bicyclist.

He had won the six day race in New York more than once, and with the thought of getting into active training wanted to know just how he stood physically, and what work he should take in order to get into shape for the six day race again, and for a series of 50 races in Europe.

As he was sound physically, looked well, was almost at his right weight when in condition, I advised some light jogging, that is slow running of about one to two miles for lungs and heart, some chest weight exercises for his upper body, and a few games of handball daily to keep up his speed.

After a few weeks of this light exercise he reported to me one day and said, "When does the heavy work start?"

I advised him that there was to be no heavy work as he was in first class condition and heavy work would make him stale and slow up his speed.

He said that the work up to this time had been only play as compared to what he had done in former years, but that as he had never felt so well and strong he'd follow my directions.

He won the six day race in New York and won 49 of the 50 races in Europe. He said he had never been in such a good condition in his life.

Why?

Not because of any real valuable advice I gave him as to exercise, but because I didn't let him overwork and slow up a body that was even then in perfect condition.

What is my point?

A body that has been well trained needs very little exercise to keep it so.

Sandow, the world's strongest man, was able to keep himself in perfect condition by 12 to 15 minutes exercise daily, or just the length of time it took him to perform his vaudeville act.

So get yourself into fair shape physically, and then ten minutes exercise a day will keep you that way.

Why Ventilating Fans Have Become Popular

Powerful little ventilating fans have been adapted to the drying of seed corn, an outfit now developed being simple to install and considered practical for large raisers of the crop, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Cult heaters are employed, and warm air blown through the corn, or the grain may be carried through a tunnel and the air blown around it. When heaters are not used, the drying can be accomplished by fans only. They are arranged to distribute air under the grain through pipes on the floor of the crib. Farmers are coming to realize more and more the importance of proper ventilation in barns where stock is kept. It has been demonstrated that a cow needs 60 cubic feet of air per minute to keep it in a healthy condition, a horse needs 4,200 cubic feet per hour and a hog 1,500. Bees also require a regular air supply.

Why Mental Disease Grows

An appreciable increase in the number of young people who fall prey to mental disease is found by Dr. Menas S. Gregory, head of the psychiatric department of Bellevue hospital, New York. People are more enlightened about the danger of letting mental and nervous ill gain headway, and as a result more youthful cases reach the hospital, he says, but this does not fully explain the increase. "The higher standards of the present day are largely responsible," he states. "The demand for material luxuries is greater today than it has ever been. The longings of youth are more intricate, more difficult to attain. They are more likely to be thwarted. And an increase in thwarted longings and ambitions makes for an increase in abnormal mental and nervous states."

Why Ostrich Hides Head

There is a popular belief that when the ostrich wishes to hide it buries its head in the sand and imagines that it cannot be seen because it cannot see. Because of the myth, which dates back at least 2,000 years, the ostrich has become the symbol of folly and is proverbial in literature for its stupidity.

Martin Johnson, an African explorer and photographer of wild animals, testifies that the ostrich does sometimes thrust its head into the sand. But it does not do it to hide when danger approaches. The bird of the desert puts its head in the ground in search of water, which it frequently finds beneath the sand.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Why Airships Are "Blimps"

"Blimp" is applied to a nonrigid, lighter-than-air, dirigible airship or balloon. The Los Angeles, for instance, is a blimp. According to the United States army air corps, the word "blimp" was coined in England during the World War. At least no earlier example of its use has been found. Just how it originated is not known. One authority suggests that it may be a combination of "b" in "balloon" and "lump," meaning flexible, flaccid, lacking in stiffness.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Why Alcohol Burns Blue

The blue color of an alcohol flame is the result of radiation attending a chemical reaction and can be attributed to a reaction in which carbon monoxide, produced at one stage of combustion with alcohol, takes place. Some other reactions give light of different colors, some of which are outside the visible spectrum.

Why We Say "Furlong"

The furlong, or 220 yards, originally meant the length of a furrow. It was supposed to be the distance even could plow without stopping to rest.

Why Voice "Breaks"

A boy's voice "breaks" because his voice-box increases in size and the vocal cords are lengthened. That brings the deeper tone.

WHY BALD?

Many men are bald because of the use of hair oil. The hair oil clogs the pores of the scalp and prevents the hair from growing. The hair falls out and the scalp becomes bald.

RECALLS GRAVE OF AN EARLY LUTHERAN PREACHER

The recent erection of a Lutheran Church on Hasbrouck avenue, Kingston, N. Y., recalls to the writer the fact that a noted Lutheran preacher of more than two hundred years ago was buried in the Hudson River Valley a few miles north of Kingston. The following description may be of interest to readers of The Freeman:

The burial place of the leader of the Palatine colony of more than three thousand persons who emigrated to America in the year 1710 and settled on or near the Hudson River—at West Camp and East Camp (Germantown)—is just east of the Lutheran Church of West Camp, Ulster county, and a little southeast of the railroad station.

The grave of the Rev. Joshua Koecherthal is covered with a heavy brown sandstone which has or had the following inscription:

"Wisse Wandersmann" unter diem Steine ruhst nebst seiner, Sybilla Charlotte ein rechter Wandersmann der Hoch Deutschen in Nord Amerika, ihr Joshua und derselben und der Ost und West selte des Hudson's river rein Lutherischen Prediger. Seine erste Ankunft war mit Lord Lovelace 1707-8 den 1 Januar, seine Zweite mit Col. Hunter 1710 den 14 June.

Seine Englische Rueckreise unterbrach seine Seelen Mimmelsche an St. Johannis tage 1719, Begehrst du mehr zu wissen so untersuche in Melancthon's Vaterland war der Koecherthal, wer Harschias, war Winchenbach.

Know, traveler under this stone rests, beside his Sybilla Charlotte, a real traveler of the High Dutch in North America, their Joshua and a pure Lutheran-preacher of the same on the east and west side of the Hudson river. His first arrival, was with Lord Lovelace in 1707-8, the first of January. His second with Colonel Hunter 1710 the 14 of June. The journey of his soul to Heaven on St. John's Day 1719 interrupted his return to England. Do you wish to know more? Seek in Melancthon's Fatherland who was Koecherthal, who Harschias, who Winchenbach.

B. Berkenmayer, S. Huertin, C. Brevoort.

It is not known, who Harschias and Winchenbach were.

For much of the above the writer is indebted to memoirs, etc., of the late B. M. Brink, who in one of his memoirs states that Koecherthal founded Newburgh, N. Y.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society and Needlecraft Society of the Presbyterian Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Alice Crowell Wednesday afternoon, July 11, at 2:30 o'clock.

A dance will be given at St. James Hall Tuesday evening, July 3, for the benefit of St. James Church. Music for the dancing will be furnished by Prof. D'Agostino's band of Newburgh.

Work on the cold storage plant of the Hudson River Fruit Exchange is progressing rapidly and it is expected to be ready for use by September 1. Twenty-five men are now at work on the building. Half of the steel frame has been erected; 65,000 cement blocks are needed for the building which will be five stories high with dimensions of 75x125. It will have a capacity for 4,500 barrels of fruit. Electric refrigerating machinery of the latest type will be installed. On the first floor there will be a zero room for freezing cherries and currants.

A communion service was held at the Methodist Church Sunday morning, Mrs. Everett Hyatt was the soloist.

The Hudson River Fruit Exchange has been purchasing a large part of its strawberries in Marlborough. The rainy weather has done considerable damage to the strawberry crop this season and also hindered very much the picking the berries for shipment.

Oliver P. Kent is selling some very fine cherries at his fruit stand on the North Road. He has a very large number of cherries trees on both of his farms. The trees when in blossom last spring were a beautiful sight; also his peach trees.

It is reported that the June fruit crop is to be the most discouraging in many years. Only 15 per cent of the McIntosh apples remain on the trees and one fruit grower has predicted the smallest apple crop in some time.

The Ladies' Needle Craft are making plans for a fair to be held in August at the home of Mrs. Birdsell Taber.

Jitney Players Please Mavericks

(By F. G. Clough.)

The Jitney Players, a struggling group of singers and actors from Madison, Conn., pulled into the Maverick grounds at Woodstock, last Saturday, pitched their stage-tents and gave an excellent performance of "The Sorcerer," a Gilbert-Sullivan comic opera.

These players have enjoyed a great deal of notice just recently in metropolitan newspapers. They seem to deserve it; certainly their out-of-door performances have a jolty and favor it were good for all theatre goers to imbibe; furthermore, the splendid ambition of these players one cannot help but applaud.

They arrived, unfolded the wings of their two trucks, almost magically changed the equipment into a good-size stage, well-lighted, backed by a goodly assortment of scenery suited to their plays. Chairs were unfolded inside a canvas wall, and the audience, which arrived a bit early, was seated in grand manner. The whole scheme seemed to lead itself so nicely with the Maverick idea that everyone enjoyed the two nights.

In "The Sorcerer," Maris Walsh and Betty Wallace caught the fancy of the audience; they were grand ladies, and their voices at songs, their personal charms at wooing and the like, made them favorites with all. Harrison Dowd, Arthur Sircorn and Richard Skinner also received a large share of applause for their contribution to the excellency and humor of the play.

On Sunday night there were even more people before the stage perched on a truck just on the Maverick road in a field; there were fifteen in the cast for "A Trip to Scarborough," a delightful English comedy play. Arthur Sircorn, a leading part with great success; Howard Starkie with given lines which he used effectively. But to sum up the two performances, both were excellent; all the players brought to their parts a seeming seriousness in the play which made them royal entertainers. There were lines in the "Scarborough" play which made members of the audience shout in glee, others which called forth the comment: "How modern!" and this despite the fact that it was in 1777 the play was first given in London.

In the audience were many artists, musicians, writers, and other celebrities from the Woodstock art colony; a number of people drove up from Kingston.

The Jitney Players gave a performance at Poughkeepsie before coming to the Maverick; they went to Troy for their next engagement. There was talk of this group of players continuing into the coming fall and winter season with better opportunity of reaching university and college towns, from where come many entreaties for them to play.

To borrow Sircorn's words, split my vitals! but the Jitney Players give jolly entertainment; one would like to enjoy a personal success half so much as theirs.

ELEANOR GUNN On Fashions

A Brown Asperic Silk Suit with a Two-Tone Beige Bouclette Sweater. The Bands on the Skirt Give the gamut of silhouettes and improvised on the theme of decoration there is little more to add to the story of the success of sports clothes.

New York—Fabrics dominate the interest in sports wear at the moment, for after having run the gamut of silhouettes and improvised on the theme of decoration there is little more to add to the story of the success of sports clothes. In America, we have bowed to tweed as the reigning belle among woollens. Abroad, tweed shares honors with basket weaves, some of which are quite pronouncedly open in texture, and with heavy-weight jersey, which is an old reliable outdoor favorite.

Back to Dress Themes of Stately Gibson Girl

Under the constructive leadership of Jean Patou, a very ancient theory will shortly be put to the test. For reasons largely sentimental, note: a fashion writer in the Louisville Courier-Journal, there has been a scurrying back, since the Paris February showings, to many of the dress themes that flourished in the era of the stately Gibson girl. The theory that, sartorially considered, there were giants—and gigantes—in those days has been carefully nurtured by outmoded Victorians ever since the advent of unfettered dress, and there has sprung up a deep-rooted tradition that the heyday of fashion belongs to the glorious past—to the fin de siècle of the meticulous Victorian.

Fortunately—or not so fortunately—for that tradition it is no longer to be permitted the haven of theory and speculation. Possibly in answer to the appeal of tenacious Victorian matrons, possibly because they felt that a change in style direction was due, the Paris haute couture has lately been offering costumes which bespeak the swishing furbelows of the long-haired epoch. If their selections were only mildly elaborate in February, they have acquired so many involved details in the months following that the renaissance must be apparent to the most casual of fashionables.

If further evidence of this new sartorial spirit is needed a report from Longchamps will be interesting:

"At Longchamps a dress of heavy black satin had a short hip coat belted at the back. It opened on the sides of the front in a rounded-off, detached bolero effect over a straight skirt, with a cluster of godets on the left side.

"The new Relex hat of fine straw with a brim wide at the side and narrow in front, where it is turned up, and draped with an enameled jewel, is much noted. Another one by Relex had a bell brim cleverly bent and a satin ribbon band and choker.

"A quantity of elaborate sapphire or other deep blue cloth coats were worn. Chanel's coat with a fan of insertions and a knot on each hip was in vogue.

All of which means that the styles of the good old days are being put to the acid test. From it they will emerge either dress or gold, with the chances just now strongly in favor of the latter.

Overcoming Objections

Little Trude, age five, is always glad to see her aunt come to spend the night, and thinks it quite a treat to get up and eat breakfast with her the following morning, which is always about four hours earlier than she is usually permitted to arise. At 8:30 p. m. the aunt was trying to explain that it made little girls cross to get up so early, so Trude began to mutter, and said, "I'll be going to bed right now, then."

The Popular Dot Design in White Jersey with a Navy Blue Dot Is Embroidered on the Blouse Lining and on Straight Lines. The Brown Felt Hat Has an Interesting Tab Is of Navy Blue with Trimming of Grosgrain Ribbon.

Sports ensembles are made up often of two, and some times three materials. Polka dots, stripes and plaids by no means have the sports field to themselves, modernistic prints being nothing if not sportive in spirit and therefore in application. Already one begins to hear of the influence of aviation on clothes, not such an influence as is expressed by a design inspired by the wings of an airplane, but an influence born of the necessity for designing clothes suitable for actual air traveling. Clothes both warm and incapable of being wind-blown are the ideal for which designers are striving.

Many smart things are being evolved for air travel abroad which is not a thing of the future, but of the all-engrossing present. Let us hope we will be spared the horrors through which we passed when motoring was first indulged in. So far, the so-called aviation suits are exceedingly trim and more or less fashioned after the uniforms of the birdmen.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

VELVET IS WORK FOR THE SUMMER DANCE AND DINNER—THE ROBE DE STYLE REMAINS DEFINITELY IN THE PICTURE—NECKLINES BECOME IRREGULAR

New York—"But why do you need a new evening dress? You have so many lovely ones." "Yes," answered my friend, "but they are velvet, and it is summer." What has that to do with it? Velvet indoors and out has come to be a seasonless sort of fabric—and why not, since it is literally as light as a feather? Besides which,

Irregularities of hemlines have had their influence on necklines. Several of the loveliest frocks of the moment have fallen under the sway of the triangular or diagonal décolleté.

one never hesitates to wear velvet on a hot Palm Beach night, so why not in July or August?

Any smart shop is well stocked with velvets, and selling them for midsummer, not only velvet evening dresses, but velvet evening wraps as well. However, there is nothing extraordinary about that, for each summer brings with it a crop of exquisitely colored evening wraps, often rather heavily furled. If you are casting about for a good excuse for buying a new evening dress, the fact that you have only velvet ones is by no means sufficient.

Moire and taffeta, both silks lending themselves to the fuller silhouette, are having a successful reign. The robe de style remains a summer favorite, and is best perhaps in these silks. Whatever one's reactions may be toward longer skirts for utility purposes, they are favorable toward longer skirts for evening. One no longer hears a lament even from the dance-mad.

one never hesitates to wear velvet on a hot Palm Beach night, so why not in July or August?

Any smart shop is well stocked with velvets, and selling them for midsummer, not only velvet evening dresses, but velvet evening wraps as well. However, there is nothing extraordinary about that, for each summer brings with it a crop of exquisitely colored evening wraps, often rather heavily furled. If you are casting about for a good excuse for buying a new evening dress, the fact that you have only velvet ones is by no means sufficient.

Moire and taffeta, both silks lending themselves to the fuller silhouette, are having a successful reign. The robe de style remains a summer favorite, and is best perhaps in these silks. Whatever one's reactions may be toward longer skirts for utility purposes, they are favorable toward longer skirts for evening. One no longer hears a lament even from the dance-mad.

Irregularities of hemlines have had their influence on necklines. Several of the loveliest frocks of the moment have fallen under the sway of the triangular or diagonal décolleté.

Miss Birmingham Barred by Bylaws

Former Kingstonian Refused License After Being Nominated for Director of Speech in New York City Public Schools.

Not one of the candidates for the vacant directorship of speech improvement is eligible for that position under the existing bylaws of the board of education, says the New York Evening Sun. This was learned when the board of superintendents took action to amend its bylaws so as to permit candidates to qualify.

It was also learned that Miss Agnes V. Birmingham, who was recently nominated for this directorship, examined for it by the board of examiners and refused a license, was ineligible under the same bylaw. The board of superintendents and the board of examiners, however, both missed this bylaw qualification.

The discovery was made by Associate Superintendent Edward Mandel when he looked up the bylaw qualifications for the position in connection with the application of another candidate now before the board for nomination.

The present bylaws require that a director of a special branch, in addition to other qualifications, shall have "graduated from a course of professional training of at least two years in the special branch to be supervised." Insofar as Mr. Mandel and the board of examiners have been able to determine there is no university graduate course in speech improvement.

The board of superintendents yesterday adopted a proposed amendment to this bylaw which would provide as an alternate qualification of a satisfactory number of hours of approved post-graduate study in the special subject to be supervised. This amendment will be submitted for approval to the board of examiners before it is recommended to the board of education for adoption.

In the meantime the position of director of speech improvement will continue vacant. This position has been vacant for seven years now, since the resignation of Dr. Frederick C. Martin, former director, in 1921.

Miss Birmingham has been serving as a teacher-in-charge of the office of the director and acting director. Until recently the superintendents and the board of education were deadlocked on this position, the board refusing to ratify the superintendents' nominees on two occasions while the board of superintendents refused to name the only candidate known to be satisfactory to the board of education. This deadlock was broken two months ago by the nomination of Miss Birmingham, whose failure to obtain a license again left the office vacant.

Miss Birmingham is a former resident of Kingston and a niece of former Mayor John F. Hyland of New York city.

Badger Great Burrower
The badger, Taxidea taxus, formerly ranged from Ohio to the Pacific and from the Saskatchewan to Mexico, says Nature Magazine. Its good offices in destroying harmful rodents is little appreciated, and it is fast disappearing in most parts of its range. Its skill as a burrower, which explains its prowess as a rodent hunter, is extraordinary.

MAYOR WALKER IN BLUE PAJAMAS RECEIVES GUESTS

Colton, Cal., July 3 (P).—Pajamas may not constitute the proper habiliments in which to face reception committees, but Mayor James J. Walker of New York has shown that he can wear them with perfect poise on such an occasion.

The New York executive's train stopped here for a short time yesterday, en route to Los Angeles from Houston, Texas. A reception committee, headed by Mayor Walter Pfunder of Colton, and including several prominent women, made an unheralded visit to Mayor Walker's private car. There sat his honor clad in blue pajamas and slippers. He was playing solitaire.

The mayor was quickly on his feet. There was a dispute as to whether he be blushed, but he received with dignity the greetings that were tendered.

HOLY CROSS CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

On Thursday, June 25, Holy Cross Church Sunday school had their annual summer picnic. About 55 children and teachers left in automobiles and a large truck, some of which were eagerly sought. Mrs. Winston of "Kingsmeade" was the hostess, as last year, and her gracious invitation was much appreciated.

On arrival at Saugerties, the children dispersed in every direction, numbers went in bathing in the large swimming pool which had a spring board from which some of the older gentlemen swimmers gave an exhibition of diving that was much enjoyed by the onlookers. After swimming, the children played several different games, which were followed by a number of races, such as flat races, two-legged races, etc.

Supper was then served on the spacious lawn. There were sandwiches of all kinds, cakes, cookies and fruit punch and quantities of rich milk for all to drink, as much as they wanted. Supper being over, and everyone feeling that they had eaten more than they should have of all good things that had been put before them, thought the best thing would be to have a few more games and races, so games and races were again the feature, the last being the tug-of-war. Before the several winners of the races received their prizes, all were served with ice cream, this bringing a most enjoyable time to an end, which will not be forgotten for some time to come.

The loud cheers from the children, as they were leaving, for their kind hostess, was a certain proof of their deep appreciation of the happy time that they had had.

America may literally make the eagle scream louder on Independence Day, but beating firmly and incessantly in the breast of every citizen at all times is the true heart of America, with all its greatness, all its aspirations, all its hopes and all its love of freedom, liberty and justice for all.

If Fourth of July orators will take a little off the length of their speeches and add a little depth, the day will be a greater success.

Joan (tenderly): "When did you first know that you loved me?"
Jack: "When I began to get annoyed when people said you were brainless and unattractive."

Teacher: "Now, if your mother gave you 11 cents, and your father gave you 7 cents, what would you have?"
Tommy: "Sugar cookies and a chocolate ice-cream cone."

The poor are unique in one particular. They pay cash.

A little bit of quality.
Will always make 'em smile;
A little bit of courtesy
Will bring 'em in a mile;
A little bit of friendliness,
Will tickle 'em, 'tis plain—
And a little bit of service
Will bring 'em back again.

"Clara," her father shouted upstairs, "I think that bashful young grocery clerk of yours is out on the porch."

"Why, Pa," exclaimed Clara, hustling down the stairs three steps at a time, "I didn't hear him ring."
"Neither did I," admitted her father, "but I heard his knees knocking together."

A quarrelsome couple, having exhausted many subjects, came to discussing tombstones, and the wife asked:
"My dear, what kind of stone do you suppose they will give me when I die?"
"Brimstone," was the reply.

It was a special picture, but he did not know that the price was raised. He handed the ticket seller a dollar bill, and when the ticket seller said, "a dollar for the girl," he answered, "she's yours."

Teacher: "What is the matter with your eye Johnny? If you and Willie have been fighting again I'll give you both a whipping."
Johnny (with the victor's generosity): "Yes, miss. But you needn't mind about Bill; he's had his."

"John, I smell elder on your breath."
"Nothing of the kind, dear, but my collar is so tight it squeezes my Adam's apple."

Clerk: "Since I married, sir, I find that my salary is not large enough."
Cynical Employer: "The usual discovery, my young friend. And it never will be again."

Americanism: Neglecting a cigarette lighter; growing because it doesn't work. Doing the same thing about government.

Many try to keep up with the neighbors and many more try to get ahead of them.

The laziest woman in the world is the one who puts popcorn in her pan-cakes so they'll turn over by themselves.

Man's fashion note: "The well dressed man should wear only a black tie on an evening." Really more than that should be required. He should at least put on a gentlemanly smile.

West Shore Beat Artistically, 9 to 1

The West Shore Railroad team had as easy time disposing of the Artistics Monday evening at the Athletic Field, defeating them by a score of 9-1. Howie McLaughlin pitched for the Railroaders and was master at all times. He allowed but four hits.

Eddie Gilday, who opposed McLaughlin on the mound, was touched for nine hits, seven of them coming in two innings, which gave the Railroaders eight runs.

The Railroaders scored one run in the second inning on a two-base hit and a fielder's choice. They scored four more in the fifth and four in the last.

The Artistics made their lone run in the fifth inning. An error and a two-bagger accounted for the run.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By the Associated Press.)

Philadelphia's bid for some National League berth other than the regular has been started off by Horesby, St. Louis and company.

The first two games of a "special series" yesterday found the Boston Braves twice victorious over the Quakers in extra inning games.

At the close of the bargain bill the Braves were four games removed from the humiliating danger of sinking into last place. Lester Bell's scratch single with the bases filled in the 11th gave Boston the opener, 1 to 3. Hege went the route for the Phils. Hollingsworth, International League, making his debut with the Braves, pitched the first nine innings. Delaney finished and received credit for the victory. The Braves won the nightcap, 5 to 4, in 10 innings. With the bases filled in the final frame, Walsh relieved McGraw.

His first offering was a wild pitch that allowed Jack Smith to score the winning run.

The Chicago Cubs returned to third place and dropped the Cincinnati Reds to fifth when Art Nehf left-handed his way to an easy 5 to 2 victory over Kolp and Jablonowski.

Five hits were all the veteran southpaw would allow. Hawk Wilson drove in four runs with three hits. Babe Ruth's 31st home run of the year failed to save the New York Yankees from a 4 to 2 reverse from the Senators, Garland Braxton out-pitching George Pipgras. Ruth's drive put him 25 games, 22 days and six home runs ahead of the schedule.

He followed to establish a new mark of 60 last season.

The Philadelphia Athletics reduced the Yankee lead to a matter of 13 games by breaking even in a double-header with the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove had no trouble beating the Sox in the first game, 9 to 2. Rube Walberg failed in the second and the A's went down, 7 to 4.

Six home runs were smashed out in the double bill. Al Simmons was the batting star of the day with five singles, a double and a home run. Ty Cobb got four hits in the first game.

The Chicago White Sox took both games of a double-header from the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 1 and 9 to 8. Blankenship pitched great ball in the opener but it took the combined help of George Connally and Ted Lyons to pull the second game into the Sox's winning column.

The Detroit Tigers took many liberties with George Uhle's pitching and walked off with a 7 to 3 triumph over the Indians.

U. S. CAVALRY TEAM TO PLAY PAN-AMS JULY 4

The United States Cavalry Baseball Club of West Point will be the opponents of the Pan-AMS on the Saugerties road diamond, July 4. This will be the second colored team to face the oilmen this season. The soldiers come here highly recommended. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

In order to get this big attraction here Wednesday afternoon, Manager McNally of the Pan-AMS had to give them an unusually big guarantee. Manager McNally also states that unless the crowds turn out in larger numbers he will be forced to take his team on the road for games.

The McNear All-Stars of Newburgh will oppose the Rondout A. C. tomorrow at Block Park. The Rondouts have been going strong lately and are expected to make a good showing against the Newburgh team.

These games are expected to be fast and interesting as the teams are said to be evenly matched. Randolph Winston will pitch one of the games for the locals with Paul Joyce hurling the other. Huber and Lewis will undoubtedly throw them over for the Sox.

Wright Doing Fine

The photograph shows Glenn Wright, shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who is putting up a mighty fine game this season. Last year Glenn was not at his best and was out of the game more than at any time in his minor or major career. But the Archie Black Spot is back in his stride now.

Athletes in Olympic Test

Philadelphia, July 3 (AP).—Some of the greatest all-around athletes in the country will start their battle today to represent the United States at the Olympic in Amsterdam when the first of the final tryouts in the Decathlon get under way at the Municipal Stadium. In addition to landing a place on the Olympic team the winner will be crowned national champion.

Five events were on the program, beginning at 10 a. m., the remaining five will be run off tomorrow, together with the final heats in the 400 metre run and the 400 metre hurdles. First and second trial heats were to be run today.

In the absence of Harold E. Osborne, who will not defend his Olympic championship, Falt Elkins, star Indian from Nebraska who is under the banner of the New York A. C., loomed a favorite in the Decathlon. Elkins set a new American record last year.

Tony Plansky, Georgetown ace and Penn relay winner this year, is ranked close to Elkins, while Stewart, the great all-around performer from California, Churchill, Flippen, Berlinger, Kennedy, Frieda, Wetzel and Dougherty were expected to finish the long grind up among the leaders. The four highest scorers will be taken to Amsterdam.

Lawson Robertson, Olympic coach, who has been watching his charges in their workouts here, regards the running and hurdles candidates with high favor. In the 400 metres there are six specialists, Spencer, Walter, Barbuti, Tirney, Baird and Alderman, who have stepped the race in 45 seconds or better.

Johnny Gibson still ruled a favorite in the 400 metre hurdles. The New York flash holds the world's record in the 440 yard hurdles, but critics claim that Morgan Taylor, Olympic champion, will be at Gibson's side if not ahead of him at the finish. Cubel of Iowa; Lloyd of the navy; Pomeroy of Los Angeles; Reay of Chicago and Coulter of Cleveland are other stars in this event.

Bouts Tonight At Po'keepsie

Boxing bouts will be held tonight at the Grindell Stadium, Poughkeepsie. Frankie Konchina and Eddy Ghost Clark will be the mitt slingers in the main affair.

Al Ferone of Beacon, who has been going great guns lately, winning his last six fights, will be pitted against Joe Tinsley of Peekskill, who also has a good fight record.

Charlie Fisher, Kingston boy, will be seen in action against a New York fighter in the opening bout. Johnny Carpio, another Kingston lad, will also be on the card, opposing Dave Brown of Brooklyn.

In the semi-final Joe Colletti will meet Tommy Abobba. These bantams are well known in fighting circles in the Hudson valley and their meeting should prove very interesting to the fans.

LAMBERT CANNOT REPRESENT UNITED STATES IN OLYMPICS

New York, July 3 (AP).—Columbia's eight-oared crew will enter the Olympic rowing tryouts at Philadelphia Friday and Saturday without the services of its great stroke oar, Eric Lambert.

Reynolds Benson, graduate manager of rowing at Columbia, announced yesterday that it had been discovered that Lambert is an English citizen and therefore ineligible to represent the United States in the Olympics.

Lambert, who was born in England, had assumed he was a full-fledged citizen. Recently it was discovered that his mother never had received final citizenship papers.

Columbia's chances of conquering such crews as Yale and California will scarcely be considered bright with Lambert out of the Lions' boat. He stroked Columbia to victory at Poughkeepsie as a freshman, then to the Intercollegiate varsity championship as a sophomore and set the pace for the crew that bowed to California by a close margin at Poughkeepsie two weeks ago.

Lambert's place probably will be taken by Bill Sanford, junior varsity stroke.

Diligence

Our word, diligence, is from the Latin, "diligencia." It means the quality of being diligent; interested and persevering application; devoted and painstaking effort to accomplish what is undertaken; assiduous industry; careful attention. Industry has the wider sense of the two words, implying an habitual devotion to labor for some valuable end, as knowledge or property. Diligence denotes earnest application to some specific object or pursuit which more or less directly has a strong hold on one's interest or feelings.

Hairy Elephants

Historians tell us that, in prehistoric times, mighty mastodons and mammoths were covered from head to tail with a very coarse hair which, in many cases, grew long. So the elephant's forefathers had long hair but, as the world changed with regard to weather conditions, from the bitter frosty glaciers that were encountered to the modern climate of extreme heat and cold, the elephant gradually shed his overcoat. The hair sometimes seen on the top of his head alone remains as a reminder.

San Time

The sun, as a means of telling time, was first used by the Chaldeans.

Y.W.C.A. Lessons In Swimming

Miss Alice McLaughlin, who has been instructor of swimming for the Y. W. C. A. this last season, has returned from the American Red Cross Life Saving and First Aid Institute held at Asbury, N. J. These institutes are held all over the United States each year and the instructors and directors are some of the most prominent in the swimming world.

The course is open to advanced students of swimming, students in advanced and standard first aid, junior and senior life savers and students eligible for these tests.

Courses were given in diving, various swimming strokes, teaching beginners as well as swimmers, life saving and rescue work, canoeing, boating water sports and first aid. The work is very interesting and educational and Miss McLaughlin is planning for some interesting work when the fall swimming classes open at the Y. W. C. A. She has earned a life saving examiner's certificate along with passing the first aid and swimming examinations given at the institute.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 3 (P).—Passing of the temporary credit stringency, which was reflected in the easing of call money from the renewal rate of 4 to 5 per cent, was the signal for another bullish demonstration in today's stock market. Early losses of 1 to 4 points were converted into substantial gains.
Ten per cent call money yesterday attracted a large influx of funds here from interior cities and European capitals with the result that the call money renewal rate was fixed at 5 per cent. It dropped to 7 before midday and to 6 by early afternoon.
New York bank clearings today broke all records with a turnover of $2,412,646,969. Time money and commercial paper rates held fairly steady.
Weekly steel trade reviews reported a further seasonal reduction in output, but pointed out that the demand was being maintained at relatively high levels and that commodity prices held firm. Reports of record breaking gasoline consumption and reduced crude oil output, and expectations of higher dividends on some of the copper shares all helped to create bullish enthusiasm.
Radio dipped 2 points to 175 in the early trading and then rebounded to 185 1/2 by early afternoon. Case-Threshing rallied from a low of 333 to 345. International Harvester soared 9 points, DuPont 5, and American International, American Republics, General Motors and Montgomery Ward sold 4 points or more above yesterday's final quotations.
Atlantic Refining advanced more than 4 points to 141 1/2, the highest since 1923. Crucible steel was conspicuously heavy, sagging nearly 4 points to 69 1/2, the lowest since 1926.
Outside of a 13-point jump in Texas & Pacific to a new record high for all time at 163, there were few changes of importance in the rail group.

Markets in China
China is a land of markets. They are held in every city and town, and even in the small villages. Where there is no regular market place, much of the buying and selling is done out of doors. But there is hardly a village that hasn't its regular market place. In the larger towns and cities there are several.

DIAMONDS THAT WEEP AND RUBIES THAT CURE FOUND

Strange Legends and Traditions Surround Magic Gems Worshipped in India.
Bombay.—Diamonds that weep and rubies that cure poisoning are only a few of the many wonderful gems with which India abounds.
Because many of the inhabitants of India worship jewels as gods, they have gone to the ends of the earth and made use of any means to collect the most remarkable of precious stones.
Connected with the gems are legends and traditions, many of which are hard to believe, though the people of India swallow them whole and ask for more. There is, for instance, the cobra jewel, several specimens of which may be seen in the Poona district, 200 miles south of here. The jewel is supposed to be carried about by a cobra, most deadly of snakes. It has the property of shining in the night. The cobra coils itself near the jewel and feeds on the toads, mice and insects attracted by its light. After dinner, the cobra swallows the jewel again and goes back to his siesta.
The cobra jewel is supposed to be able to cure snake bites. It sticks to the wound only when the bite is poisonous. It falls off when the poison has been withdrawn from the wound. The jewel is then washed in cow's milk. A rich Zamindar of Poona has such a jewel, which he says bears out the traditions attached to it.
One of the strangest type of jewels in India is that which is credited with the ability to weep. Recently an old necklace belonging to the royal house of Tanjore, South India, was sold in Madras. The purchaser sent it to a jeweler for resetting.
The jeweler found that the pendant diamond, which was generally of a bluish tint, took on a rosy shade during the course of the day. But when it was put under the direct rays of the sun it turned a deep blue.
The jeweler put the gem in his safe. Later, when he opened the safe, he found it flooded with brilliant moonlight. The cotton wool on which he had placed the diamond was wet. As he held the gem, his own hand became wet. Water seemed to ooze out of the diamond.
He has now found that the stone loses its luster when the moon wanes, does not emit light during the day, and sheds tears only on full moon night.
In Ceylon is the wonderful elephant pearl, which has been examined and reported authentic by Dr. Joseph Pearson, director of the Colombo museum.
The jewel weighs 12 carats, has a creamy-golden hue, and is two thousand years old. When the pearl was examined under a microscope, it was found to have a basis of ivory upon which one could see a perfect form of a white elephant.
H. W. B. Moreno, member of the legislative council of Bengal, possesses a ruby which contains in its center the image of a dark man dressed in white robes and turban. No one is able to explain how the image got within the ruby.
A chief in the Bombay presidency has a mortar and pestle carved out of whole sapphires. He gives the medicine made in the mortar as a cure for anemia.

Dredge Fishes Walrus Skull Out of Ocean

Boston.—While today walrus are practically confined to the little-visited Arctic seas, within historic times they have been common as far south as the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the recent finding of a skull on Georges bank, off the coast of Massachusetts, seems to indicate that these mammals did come down as far as northern United States waters perhaps no longer than two or three hundred years ago.
This interesting specimen, consisting of the fore part of a walrus skull with the tusks still in place, was recently dredged up by the steam trawler Mariner at a depth of 80 fathoms. Col. J. M. Andrews has turned the skull over to the Boston Society of Natural History.

Kingston Soldiers Enjoying Life At Pine Camp

Enjoy Hearty Meals at Regular Hours and Lunch Hourly Between Meals.
—Attend Church Services Sunday.
—Institutions Are That All Will Return Greatly Improved.

Pine Camp, N. Y., July 3.—Special. A dining club greeted the members of the 156th Field Artillery when they arrived here at 5:30 o'clock this morning. The day was delightful throughout and an ideal one to start the two weeks' camping period at Pine Camp. The soldiers marched here after detaching at Great Bend, situated about one mile distant, with little effort after having spent a comfortable night traveling on the sleepers, which took them from Kingston to their destination. Tasks throughout the day were executed by the Kingston soldiers in regular style. The way the boys took to army life forecasts that all will enjoy the summer camping period. When the bugle sounded for retirement all rolled up in their blankets to spend a comfortable night, made most agreeable by the cool breezes after the sun had gone down, in order that the following day's routine might be entered upon with plenty of vim.

The 156th National Guardsmen from Kingston enjoyed a hearty breakfast of bacon and eggs, plenty of good bread and coffee, after the 325 miles ride by rail. After the meal the boys snapped into duty and made the camp a real live one within a short time. Tents had to be pitched and the horses of the outfit cared for and both were fixed up in tip-top shape.

Soldiers Attend Church Services.
Hikes were taken by the soldiers about the camp, which covers a large area, after duties had been performed. A modern canteen furnished refreshments and luncheon to those who were able to stand more food, regardless of the bountiful breakfast served. At 10:30 a. m. church services were held in the recreation hall. The Rev. William McKenna of Newburgh offered Mass attended by the Roman Catholics in the camp. He gave a short talk to the men concerning their conduct. He advised them to conduct themselves at all times during the camping period in a way that becomes a National Guardsman.

Eat and Then Discuss More Meals.
A short work period after the church services terminated by shower baths, preceded the dinner, which was relished by the soldiers. At 12:30 the mess call sounded and every soldier was ready to answer it promptly. Battery A had the best menu, consisting of Irish stew, bread, canned peaches and lemonade. The mess sergeants of Battery B, Headquarters Battery and the Combat Train plan to outdo the accomplishment of Battery A cooks at every meal on Monday.

Little work was done Sunday afternoon. The boys enjoyed horse-back riding in the sun which furnished a healthy coat of tan. The outlook promises that every Kingston man at the camp will return home much benefited in health after enjoying a fine two weeks' vacation.

Soldiers Attend Fliers' Funeral

Pine Camp, N. Y., July 3.—Special. A very impressive military funeral for Second Lieutenant Herman L. Von Lackum and Lieutenant Hunter, both of the 27th Division Air Service, whose deaths were caused by an airplane crash at Pine Camp Saturday was attended by members of the 27th Division and the 156th Field Artillery Sunday afternoon on the aviation field at Pine Camp. While the soldiers stood at attention and airplanes of the station flew about the camp, the chaplain, Captain William P. McKenna, Roman Catholic clergyman of Newburgh, conducted services.

The army fliers, who met their fate when their plane crashed against a 30-foot pine tree, had journeyed from New York in the machine to spend a training period at the camp. Lieutenant Von Lackum had seen service overseas with the 27th Division during the World War as an aviator. He was killed when the plane hit the earth, while Lieutenant Hunter died in a hospital at Watertown on Sunday.

A curious incident concerning this accident is the fact that the aviators killed here yesterday were roommates and close friends of the two officers that were killed here last year.

MUST HAVE FLAGMAN AT VOORHEESVILLE CROSSING

Albany, N. Y., July 3.—There was a hearing before the Public Service Commission Monday on the proposed location of a flagman at the highway crossing of the Delaware & Hudson and the West Shore railroad in Voorheesville and further hearings will be had on August 6 to permit the railroads to submit evidence as to views of the crossing, alleged storage of cars and stopping of trains at the station.

The hearing before the commission followed recent accidents at the crossing, the commission, after investigation, deeming that a flagman should be stationed there. The railroads claim a flagman is not necessary. W. G. Himes, the commission's engineer who investigated the accidents, was the only witness sworn Monday. The railroads were represented by Attorneys Kelley for the Delaware & Hudson and Crabbe for the West Shore. S. A. Darling, attorney, represented Voorheesville, and Village President Caughtry was also present.
